

SEIKO Sportura, the sports watch for women

The new SEIKO Sportura collection for women marks a new departure for SEIKO's women's collection, combining functionality with femininity in a watch that is as elegant as it is durable. The first ever Sportura watches for women are designed to perform, any time and anywhere.

The strength of Sportura

The attributes that have made the Sportura men's collection so successful are all to be found in the new women's line. The cases are cast from high-grade stainless steel, with screw backs for maximum protection. The glasses are all sapphire with an anti-reflection coating that ensures high legibility, and each model is 100 meter water resistant. Thus, the new collection is built to last and designed to perform equally well on the tennis court and on the high seas.

The sportiness of Sportura

All three new models incorporate the famous SEIKO 7T92 chronograph movement. It provides high-accuracy timing to 1/20 second for up to 12 hours, and with a calendar, this movement provides a full range of functions for sport and everyday use.

The style of Sportura

The new collection has a style all its own, combining sport and feminine style into a harmonious new look. The secret is in the detail. Eight diamonds adorn each dial, the cases are sculpted to a smooth and rounded shape. And each has its own unique combination of dial colour and strap texture, with black, brown and white, whose dial is combining artfully with mother of pearl.
